January isn't even over yet but we're already daydreaming about our next vacation: sun, sand and relaxation. The cherry on top of our dream vacations? Spots that are perfect for the whole family — without breaking the bank.

As part of its 15th annual Travelers' Choice awards, travel and booking site TripAdvisor collected millions of hotel reviews from the past year and compiled lists of the best hotels in the world — everything from luxury spots to cozy bed-and-breakfasts — which it released today.

"TripAdvisor relies on the experiences and opinions of our travel community to determine the winners of the Travelers' Choice for Hotels," said TripAdvisor's chief marketing officer, Barbara Messing, in a statement.

If you're looking to travel with the little ones this year, check out TripAdvisor's list of top 25 family hotels in the U.S. — which means fun for the entire family. The Travelers' Choice locations take into consideration everything from water parks to game rooms to bumper cars. The average price for these family-friendly hotels is $228 per night.
